

Angling For Opportunities:

Virtual Interview Tips

During

1. Appearances (attire, body language, posture) still matter!
2. Wear headphones to eliminate echo and audio feedback
3. Attempt to form a connection with the interviewers in the beginning to lighten the atmosphere (e.g., ice breaker question)
4. Briefly answer each question in a way that is relevant to the job and highlights experience
5. Have questions to ask at the end and use the interviewer's names

Before

1. Familiarize yourself with the position and the organization
2. Test your surrounding environment for lighting, noises
3. Add a background that is not distracting and shows your personality
4. Exchange multiple forms of contact (zoom, phone, skype)
5. Practice looking at the camera and not the computer screen
6. Make a bulleted cheat sheet for questions you are sure to be asked
7. List your goals and how this position will help you achieve them

After

1. Thank the interviewers and follow up a few days later
2. Do not pester interviewers if you have not heard back

Artwork from: Kraeer K. and V. Essen-Fishman. Integration and Application Network, University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science (ian.umces.edu/imagelibrary/)

FLORIDA CHAPTER